The Parties' Second Request was made on November 21, 2017 when the Parties submitted a Stipulation to Extend the Early Neutral Evaluation because the Defendants' representative with decision-making authority would not be available for the Early Neutral Evaluation due to the Thanksgiving holiday. As such, the Court vacated the Early Neutral Evaluation scheduled for November 28, 2017 and rescheduled it for January 11, 2018. The Court noted that everything else in its September 11, 2017 Order (Docket #15) remains unchanged.

I. Good Cause to Continue Early Neutral Evaluation

When the Parties Second Request was submitted, Defendants' representative's, who is also the President of his company, available dates were provided. Shortly after the Court rescheduled the Early Neutral Evaluation, Defendants' representative had a business matter come up that will necessitate his being out of state during the rescheduled date of January 11, 2018. As this Third Request is being submitted more than 21 days before January 11, 2018, there is good cause to continue the Early Neutral Evaluation.

II. Proposed Dates to Reschedule the Early Neutral Evaluation

The Parties have been informed that the Court is available to conduct the Early Neutral Evaluation in January except for the week of January 15 - 19 and that we should include proposed dates. Please find the proposed dates below:

January 8, 2018 Monday
January 22, 2018 Monday
January 23, 2018 Tuesday
January 29, 2018 Monday
January 30, 2018 Tuesday
